Privacy policy and data protection

We will use personal information which we hold about you to provide our services and products to you, for credit control and market research purposes and to inform you about our services and products or events which we believe may be of interest to you.

We may only share your information with staff, clients, or other specialist networks with the sole purpose of completing your order or transaction. We will take all reasonable steps to ensure the privacy of your information. Except as required or allowed by law or other regulation, we will not pass, disclose, rent or sell your personal information (other than any personal information which is already publicly available) to any third party without your prior consent.

Any personal information that you submit to our website is similarly subject to the terms set out in this privacy policy. By submitting your personal information, you consent to becoming a registered user of our website, and to us using the details that you have provided within the terms set out in this privacy policy. We may use the information to help us understand more about how our site is used by visitors and to enhance our services to you. By submitting your personal information, you give consent for us to contact you from time to time for marketing, advertising and public relations purposes and for as long as necessary for the purposes of fulfilling our obligations to you. We may also periodically send out information updates to registered users of the Origin website.

We make every effort to ensure the security of our systems. Unfortunately, no data transference or storage can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your personal information after we've received it, we cannot ensure or guarantee absolute security of the information.

You have the right, by written request to a copy of any personal data (as defined in the Data Protection Act 1998) that we hold about you.

We reserve the right to make changes to these terms and conditions from time to time.
